Four Start Campaign Trail

Only four juniors have been nominated to head next year's student government.

Running for student body president are Allan Snook and Galen Hora. Catherine Gammelin and Darlene Nimtz are vying for the position of secretary.

Nominations for the student government positions closed yesterday at 4 p.m.

SNOOK, a native of Coulter, has been active ever since coming to Wartburg, starting as chairman of the freshman class float.

Last year he headed the Elections Committee, and this year was chairman of the Homecoming Dance. He is presently working out plans for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Snook

Hora

Hora hails from Wyoming and has been a mainstay in Castle Singers for three years. He is a member of the executive committee of that group.

He belongs to Chi Rho, and was a Parish Mission Builder last summer when he was captain of bis team.

MISS GAMMELIN, from Appleton, Wis., has had experience as secretary of her sophomore class. She has also been vice president of North Centennial, a member of the bookstore staff and Lutheran Students Association.

Miss Nimtz, from West Bend, Wis., is currently serving as a junior class Senator. She is a member of the Publications Committee and writes for the Trumpet.

She works in the library and has been a member of Vollmer Hall Dorm council and Women's Coordinating Board.

A PRIMARY election will be held in convocation on Tuesday so that the student body can officially approve the ballot. Campaign speeches will be given during convo on Thursday.

The main election will be held at the north end of the Student Union next Friday. The polls will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

RACKING THEIR brains for project ideas, the Student Body Project Committee meets. Seniors Bob Scharlau, Don Lehmann, Corliss Klaassen, Bob Steigerwaldt and Ed Scharlau flank sophomore Linda Lott. Any ideas are welcome, says the committee.

SB Project Ideas Begin Shaping Up

Ideas for the student body project are beginning to take definite formation. Solicitations will be held the week of March 20-25.

Junior Lynn Meier from Cushing has been selected as carnival chairman. The carnival will be held Saturday, April 8.

ED SCHARLAU and Bob Steigerwaldt, project co-chairmen, report that their committees have all been selected. They would like to remind students that they may contribute to tbis fund on a pledge-now and pay-later basis.

Preliminary balloting actually to select a project will take place in convocation next Tuesday. The final balloting will be on Thursday. Any student suggestions are welcome, according to Meier.

THE STUDENT body project committee decided Monday night upon the method for choosing the Campus Carnival king and queen, according to Scharlau.

Floor members in the dorms will each select one candidate, with the women's housing units selecting king candidates and the men's dorms selecting queen candidates.

The six women's and six men's housing units pledging the most money will be allowed to work for their candidates at the carnival. These twelve will be the only ones competing for the title of king or queen.

Band Returns From Tour; To Give Concert Sunday

Wartburg Concert Band, returning tonight from its annual tour, will present a concert tomorrow evening at 8 in the chapel-auditorium.

The sixty-member band journeyed through Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota under the direction of Robert E. Lee.

NUMBERS INCLUDED on the program vary from marches to symphonies. The powerful Lutheran hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," by Martin Luther, opens the program.

"Overture to 'Rienzi'" by Richard Wagner-Grabel, "Symphonic March, I Diavoli Rossi" by E. Rivela and Richard Strauss-Harding's "Death and Transfiguration" add to the performance.

"The Three Trumpeters" by G. Agostini-Bainum will feature freshmen Marilyn Post and Harold Heeren and sophomore Dennis Wesenberg.

A NUMBER expressly composed for the Wartburg College Band is "Sioux Panorama" by E. A. Hovdesven of the Wartburg Music Department. "Study in Steel" by Wayne Samskar and Eric Leidzen's "Doxology" are other selections.

Freshman Allen Mardorf is featured alto saxophonist in "Nightfall" by John J. Morrissey. The program will close with "March of the Steel Men" by Charles Belsterling-Alford.

Neumann To Give Lecture On Nash

Ogden Nash, American poet, will be the subject of the next in the current series of English lectures.

Presented by Dr. G. J. Neumann, English Department, the lecture will be held on Wednesday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the audio-visual aids room of the library. Coffee and refreshments will be served following the lecture.

Becker Journeys

Pres. C. H. Becker was in Washington, D.C., yesterday for a meeting with Dr. Earl Armstrong, executive secretary of the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Publicity, Plans Roll For Pops Concert

"Plans and publicity for the pops concert are really swinging into action. All we need to do now is to sell tickets," reports Dar Meyer, chairman of the concert.

Posters have been distributed in the surrounding towns, advertising Louie Armstrong as the attraction for the Wartburg pops concert, Thursday, April 13.

Ticket sales are organized in Waterloo, Charles City, Cedar Falls, Waverly and on campus.

AL EXNER, ticket sales chairman, reminds students that their signatures on the sign-up sheets earlier this year does not indicate that tickets are reserved for them.

He urges students to purchase their tickets early. There are no reserved seats the night of the concert.

THE LIST of students who are selling tickets on campus are Bill Schroeder, Grossmann; Fred Dierks, Clinton; Dave Siefkes, North Hall; Arlyn Saathoff, Ketha; Leon Oltmann, Cotta; Bob Boettcher and Tom Christensen, Alpha.

Elaine Frantz, Wartburg Hall; Carol Froehlich, Lavonne Haats, Betty Jane Haefs and Lois Remmers, Centennial Hall; Jean Zell, Public Relations Office; Darrell Jobman, faculty; and Dar Meyer.

Applications Increase

Applications to Wartburg continue to grow!

Continuing the trend of the past years, the number of applicants this year has been running 10-15 per cent ahead of last year, according to Fred Thompson, admissions director.

Convos List White, Election Campaign

A guest speaker and two traditional Wartburg observances will highlight next week's convo.

Dr. Goodrich C. White, chancellor of Emory University, Atlanta, will speak at Tuesday's session. He will be here as part of a four-day visit in conjunction with the American Association of Colleges and Universities.

Thursday's convo will be devoted to the student body election campaign, in which the nominees for student body president will speak. Winter athletic awards of basketball and wrestling letters will also be presented during Thursday's convo.

6 Defense Loans Finish Allotments

Six $200 loans were given Wednesday to complete the distribution of the money allotted to Wartburg College under the National Defense Act.

Altogether, 63 loans, amounting to a total of $26,525, have been given out during the current school year, according to H. C. Engelbrecht, college business manager.

Speakers Enter Tourney

Wartburg speakers will attend the Iowa Forensic Tournament, being held this weekend, March 10-12, at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls.

Orators are junior Meta Fokkena and freshman Jim Riesberg, while poetry readers are Beverly Lubben, junior, and Bruce Bergquist, senior.

In extemporaneous speaking freshman Bill Boettcher and sophomore Ron Rademacher will participate, and in discussion seniors Bob Boettcher and Evelyn Helms, as well as Al Putz, will compete.

Two debate teams are in attendance from Wartburg. Junior Al Putz and freshman Bill Boettcher will make up one team, and freshmen Stan Lillich and Jim Riesberg the other. Each team will debate both sides of the question.

The question is "Resolved, That the United States should provide compulsory health insurance for its citizens."

Snowfall Slows Schedule For Beginning Of Dorm

March snow has delayed plans for the start of construction on the new women's dormitory.

Henkel Construction Company of Mason City, general contractors, were ready to move in this week. Plans still call for breaking of ground in late March if weather permits.

The various contractors are in the process of purchasing equipment and gathering supplies. The boiler, first piece of equipment to be installed in the new building, is already being shipped.

In longer range construction plans, Dr. J. O. Chellevold, dean of faculty; Dr. A. W. Swensen, Chemistry Department; and Dr. Elmer Hertel, Biology Department, have recently visited campuses with new science buildings.

They are making a preliminary study of the type of building desired to be built here.

Architects have already been engaged and are working with the three faculty members in the study.

When Snow Flies, Duck!

You better watch out! Snowballers like senior Dave Siefkes had field days last week. Starting Wednesday, when 10 inches of snow fell, the campus that looked like March all January looked like January in March.

The snow was so heavy that on Friday students were still walking single file along walks that had one narrow shoveled path.

EDITORIAL—

Ugh!

Something insidious is creeping onto this campus.

Unfortunately, it looks as though it's apathy, a term that has been hit back and forth from campus to campus across the nation. It landed at Wartburg, too. Last year it was always good for a Trumpet editorial.

This year it seemed to be different. People were interested. Social activities were generally well attended. Criticism was heard, but a smaller portion seemed to be griping for the sake of griping. The atmosphere had cleared.

Now, however, an example of apathy startling in its implications has developed. Hardly anyone wants to run for student body offices. With a single exception, those who have filed were more or less fast-talked into becoming candidates.

It's disgusting.

If the student bodies of 10 years ago who fought for student government could see the situation, they would be aghast. If interest is so slight in campus government that students don't even think it worth sacrificing their time for, what's the sense of having it?

Student government is not alone in its predicament, however. Almost every year at least one of the publications has to railroad a student or two into being editor.

It's disgusting.

Nobody seems to want to assume responsibility. The let-the-other-fellow-do-it attitude is an ominous sign in a democracy. The whole structure is gnawed by this parasitic selfishness.

It's too late now for the juniors and seniors. They've had their chance. As in all things, hope lies in the future. Let's cover the present with sand.

It's disgusting.

"The Glass Menagerie" — the American television set.

Comment on leaving the Union on Wednesday morning, "Hey, where's Luther Hall?"

There is a huge, white monster on campus! It has caused students to stop in their tracks, girls to shriek and some to turn as white as ghosts after they have accidentally come in direct contact with it. Why, it has even kept some teachers away! So heed this warning — watch where you're going! You might be next to fall victim of the SNOW!

Defeating the purpose is best exemplified by the ambitious coed who does strenuous exercises while munching on a popcorn ball.

It seems as if the professors hand back four-week tests just before we take mid-semesters — very discouraging.

NEW FRONTIER OPENS AS

Kennedy Begins Peace Corps

By John Stumme

President Kennedy recently opened the door to a New Frontier by issuing an executive order creating a Peace Corps pilot program. In a special message to Congress he recommended its establishment on a permanent basis.

The Peace Corps is a volunteer "pool of trained American men and women" to be sent to the developing nations of Asia, Africa and South America.

The difference between this program and other technical aid programs is that the trained experts will work with the people themselves, teaching them how to do things and not doing it all for them.

The life of a peace corpsman will be one of hardship and sacrifice. He will live "simply and unostentatiously" with the people with whom he is working. He will receive no salary, but only an allowance to meet basic needs and to maintain health.

In addition, he will sacrifice some of the most profitable years of his life for his country.

But in spite of the possible difficulties, inquiries, suggestions and applications have poured in by the thousands. President Kennedy is reported to have received more letters about the Peace Corps than about any other issue.

A letter from Cleveland, Ohio, is indicative of the spirit of these letters: "Have you a place for me in your fight for peace?"

The New York Times on its editorial page called the Peace Corps "one of the most remarkable projects ever undertaken by any nation."

This program indeed has the potential to go a long way in establishing freedom, without war, as "the wave of the future," in restoring the image of America as the leader of tomorrow, as well as helping the growing and independent nations of the world get on their feet.

The image that the people of Asia, Africa and South America have of the United States and its institutions is not a positive one. Too often Americans have remained aloof in their relationships with the people of these nations.

Because Americans have insisted on living overseas as they do at home, the phrase "ugly American" has come to show their dislike of the American way of life.

Arnold Toynbee, noted historian, has said, "Present day America's unprecedentedly high material standard of living is her most serious handicap in her waging of the cold war."

The corpsmen could reverse the image of America from one of wealth and loftiness to one of love and understanding.

Whether these developing nations will turn to communism or democracy for aid is the most important question of the decade. This watching world holds the balance of power.

Both of these ideologies are trying to mold these young nations into their mode of living. America has truth and freedom on its side, but this is not enough.

It must sell its beliefs to these nations. By the dedicated and consecrated work of these peace corpsmen this project can help sell democracy to the watching world.

Christian Duty To Make Good Shoes, Theologian Stendahl Charges Students

By David Grube

It is not the duty of the Christian cobbler to make shoes with crosses on them, but it is rather his duty to make good shoes."

This statement by Dr. Krister Stendahl of Harvard Divinity School was typical of the thought - provoking statements with which he challenged delegates to The American Lutheran Church Student Conference held at Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., March 3-5.

Dr. Stendahl's depth of thought, his wit and his scholarly appearance made an immediate impression on the delegates, and, without a doubt, they will remember his two lectures as the high lights of the conference.

In his first lecture Dr. Stendahl pointed out two things characteristic of us of the Lutheran tradition, and he expanded upon them. He stated first of all that we have an acute awareness of the reality and the seriousness of sin. We publicly confess our sins every Sunday morning in church.

But that we don't live up to this confession is pointed out, according to Dr. Stendahl, by the fact that we are so touchy about any other person's pointing out our sinfulness to us.

The Lutheran Church is also characterized by an interest in creation, continued Dr. Stendahl.

"The Christian housewife sweeping the floor need not feel that she must do so while singing hymns or by making crosses on the floor with her broom strokes," said Dr. Stendahl.

"She should rather see to it that she does a good job of sweeping the floor, for God the Creator is interested in His creation to the extent that He likes to see clean floors."

Thus, we are, in a sense, called to be co-creators with God.

The Harvard theologian continued by reminding the group that it is 10 times easier to be critical than to be creative.

Need we as Christians disavow all association with materialism? Dr. Stendahl's answer to this was both novel and provocative: "Materialism is the midwife that brings forth the legitimate children of religion."

Dr. Stendahl's interjections of wit into his scholarly addresses made his audience appreciate him all the more.

Having grown up and been educated in Sweden, he speaks with that delightful-to-the-ears, soft Scandinavian accent.

During his second address he ended one of his sentences with the word "ahfternoon." There was a pause, and then he repeated, correcting himself, "I mean afternoon." Laughter.

Dr. Stendahl really brought down the house, however, by continuing after another pause, "I want to be sure to communicate."

Following Friday night's more general address, Dr. Stendahl really got down to specifics in regard to the conference's theme "Christ in Culture" in his Saturday afternoon speech.

"The sum total of all creativeness is culture," he stated.

But how does Christ come into culture?

"It is through man's invitation to be a co-creator that Christ comes into culture. We can create because we are free in Christ," he said.

Among the conference delegates, Dr. Stendahl was referred to only in terms of superlatives. Here is a man of whom denominationally minded Lutherans can be justly proud.

He is a man who is characterized, it seems, by intellectual honesty. He is not afraid to look realistically at the church and admit that everything we see about the church is not all good.

And yet, heeding his admonition to be creative rather than critical, he remains optimistic.

Dr. Stendahl introduced the delegates to some concepts that were undoubtedly new to many of them. He challenged them with the depth and the clarity of his thought.

He dived squarely into the conference theme, "Christ in Culture: Illusion or Reality?," and demonstrated that Christianity and culture do go hand in hand.

In short, it seems that a better man could not have been chosen to deliver the keynote speeches to The American Lutheran Church Student Conference.

IF THIS WERE MY SCHOOL . . .

One of the favorite student pastimes has always been to speculate how the rules would be changed if this or that person were president.

This week yours truly put an ear to the ground in order to pick up a few of these ideas. My conclusion is that if everyone were president of Wartburg College, the rules would read something like this:

1. THE SOCIAL life of Wartburg centers about that old traditional event, the lynching of the security officer, each Friday. Anyone found not participating enthusiastically will be named next week's security officer.
2. WOMEN'S HOURS are to be midnight on weekdays and 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings. (These suggested hours are minimal. Anyone checking in before these hours will be required to sign up for an "early." No student may accumulate more than eight earlies per semester.)
3. PIZZA DELIVERIES in the dorms may commence at 11 p.m. for the "early birds." They may be continued after 3 a.m., with the stipulation that late pizza eaters are to strew the paper carefully about the dorm.
4. THE DEAN of students will ascertain a valid reason for each instance of a student's attending class. Failure to do so will be recorded in the dean's transcript.
5. CONVOCATION will meet each Tuesday and Thursday morning. Tuesday's convo will be of an educational nature, featuring such authorities as Marilyn Monroe and Mamie Van Doren. Thursday's convo, an informal social get-together between faculty and students, will be held at the Circle. Transportation will be furnished by the school.
6. WARTBURG, AS a liberal arts school, has always been quick to recognize those students who pursue the more intellectual pursuits.

Therefore, the tradition is honored that, when meeting in crowded corridors, poker players will yield the right of way to pinochle players, who in turn must yield to bridge players. Bridge players yield to no one.

7. AS FIRM BELIEVERS in the right of the drama to present life as it really is, we reserve the right to read and edit each play presented. "Dirty words" will be added to such plays as are found lacking in this respect.

□ □ □ □

This pretty well covers the major changes which seem to be desired by a great number of students. Me? I'm in favor!

Campus Cop Always There

By Jen Miller

While students sleep, he walks and keeps watch.

This is the work of Ronald Shinn. Since 1959 he has been working as night watchman, janitor and police officer at Wartburg.

Shinn attended Wartburg from 1956 to 1958 and was a biology major. His present job grew out of the work he did as a student. In 1957 he was in charge of cleaning the Student Union and responsible for the furnaces in all campus buildings.

In his present capacity, Shinn works daily from 10:30 p.m. until after daylight. While on duty he checks all buildings and the exit doors of the women's dorms to see that they are locked after closing hours.

As far as covering the campus is concerned, he said, "I don't believe in having a routine beat because I can never tell where I'll be needed."

He also makes sure that the heating plants and other general facilities are in working order in all the buildings. He is in charge of all buildings except the cafeteria.

Walter Raney takes Shinn's place from 12 noon to 10:30 p.m. The regular janitorial staff is on duty from around 6 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Shinn has been a member of the Waverly Police Department since last September. As an officer he is called to take care of any trouble that might arise in the dorms.

His jurisdiction extends over the city of Waverly. He is sometimes called to provide information about the character of a student who gets into trouble.

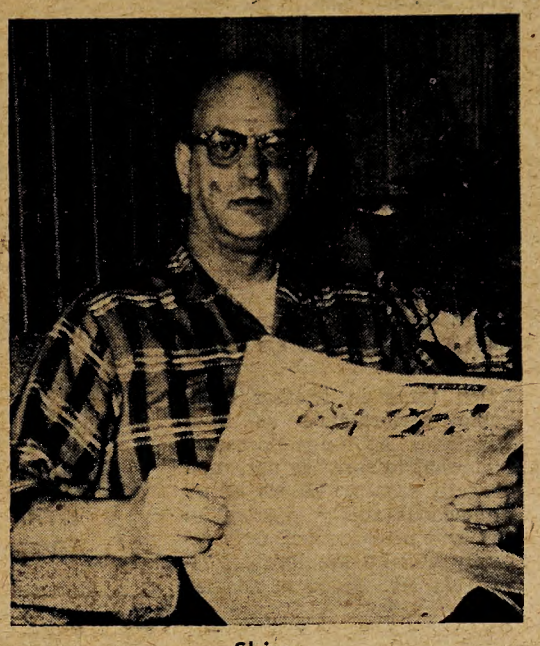
"I like to work with the idea of helping the students," said Shinn. "I despise the word authority. I like to feel that the students are part of my family and correct them as I would my own children. Of course, there is some difference."

"We have a wonderful student body," Shinn said. "We have our little ups and downs, but nothing major."

He stated that he is rarely called to settle disturbances caused by students.

Shinn said that Wartburg is fortunate in that it has been able to handle its own problems. He attributes part of the credit for this situation to the administration.

"Students are able to talk with the deans and professors and reason out their differences," he said.



Shinn

"We have our little ups and downs"

Born in Greenfield, Shinn attended Greenfield High School and was active in dramatics. From 1943 to 1946 he was stationed with the Marines in the Pacific Islands working as an aviation mechanic. He participated in Hans Sachs and Chi Rho while a student at Wartburg.

Last Tuesday Shinn and his wife, Daisy, celebrated their 16th wedding anniversary. They have three children — Lester, 15; Sandy, 9; and Cindy, 7. They live in the trailer court between Knights Gym and the library.

Although he hasn't had much time to spend on hobbies since he came to Wartburg, Shinn enjoys fishing in his spare time.

He had plenty of opportunity to "wet his hook" while working as foreman at the Studebaker Garage in Winterset.

"My boss would rather fish than eat," he said. "We'd work all day and fish all night."

Shinn also enjoys pheasant hunting and picnicking with his family in the summer.

His love for outdoor activities, which is indicated by his favorite pastimes, makes Shinn especially qualified to walk and keep watch at night over Wartburg.

Variety Features 1st Alumni Letter

Alumni activity, campus developments and higher education issues will be discussed in the new Wartburg College Alumni Association's Knight Letter, according to Alumni Director Robert Gremmels.

A newsletter, the publication was proposed by Gremmels to establish better communication within the Alumni Association.

The newsletter will go to board members, class agents, chapter officers and other leaders of the Alumni Association, plus staff and faculty members of Wartburg.

According to Gremmels, any interested student may contact the alumni director's office in order to receive a copy of the Knight Letter.

Navy Will Come

U. S. Navy officer information team from Des Moines will be on campus Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Fuchs Lounge. Lt. William Kaucher will supply information on Navy officer opportunities.

Nine Added To Tri-Beta

Nine students were initiated into Tri-Beta, national honor biological society, at the Wartburg chapter's 10th annual banquet last night.

Those initiated were juniors Angeline Petersen and Arthur Baker and sophomores Karen Arns, Nancy Gaylor, Harold Webster, Esther Bahlmann, Ralph Otto, William Lange and Carol Stier.

Dr. William Osborn of the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, was speaker at the banquet, which was held at St. John's Lutheran Church. He spoke on the subject of radioisotopes.

Since the local Tri-Beta chapter was started in 1951, as many as 140 students have become members. Tri-Beta has 120 chapters in the United States.

Students must rank in the upper half of the student body in respect to grades and must list biology as one of their major interests. Three semesters of work in biology must also be completed in order to belong to Tri-Beta.

Chancellor White To Counsel Here

Dr. Goodrich C. White, chancellor of Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., will be at Wartburg as an administrative consultant March 13-17. He will be sponsored by the Association of American Colleges.

While on campus Dr. White is scheduled to meet with the faculty Curriculum Study Committee and to speak at convocation.

Dr. White was President of Emory University before becoming chancellor. He has also been vice president, dean of the graduate school and professor of psychology at the university. He received his Ph. D. from the University of Chicago.

Director Travels To Des Moines

Fred Thompson, admissions director, will participate in the Annual Spring Conference of the Iowa Association of Secondary School Principals and Administrators of the North Central Association of High Schools to be held in Des Moines March 12-13.

On Sunday he will appear on a panel to discuss "High School-College Articulation," and Monday he will take part in buzz sessions.

Frosh At Confab

Myron Schober, freshman from Berlin, N. D., is attending the National Farmers Union convention in Washington, D.C. A delegate from his home county, Schober left yesterday and will return Sunday, March 19.

Four Players Give Good Performance In 'Glass Menagerie' On Opening Night

By Craig Sathoff

Four Wartburg Players did an excellent job of presenting Tennessee Williams' play "The Glass Menagerie" in its opening in the chapel-auditorium Thursday evening. The last performance will be given tonight at 8.

The play is written by the author of the recent motion picture successes "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "Suddenly Last Summer." Vernon Lestrud of the Wartburg Speech Department directed the production.

Junior Kathryn Koob was outstanding in her portrayal of Amanda Wingfield, the domineering mother of Laura and Tom Wingfield. She is perhaps Williams' most interesting psychological study in this play.

Amanda, the daughter of a wealthy Southern family, married unwisely. Then, her husband left her with two small children.

Miss Koob has adopted a Southern accent for her part. Although in the more emotional scenes the accent is somewhat lost, for the most part it is very good.

Crippled Laura Wingfield, played by sophomore Karen Arns, is a pitiful character. Laura, completely dominated by her mother, is unable to face the world at all. She contents herself at home, with her glass menagerie of small animals.

The glass menagerie is a society in its own right. It is the only society to which Laura feels she can belong.

Miss Arns has done a wonderful job in her interpretation of Laura Wingfield. Of the four characters, she seems to be the most trapped. She is the person we love the most.

Veteran actor Don Ehlers, junior, is back again, this time as Tom Wingfield, the dissatisfied son. It is Tom who is narrating the story of his family.

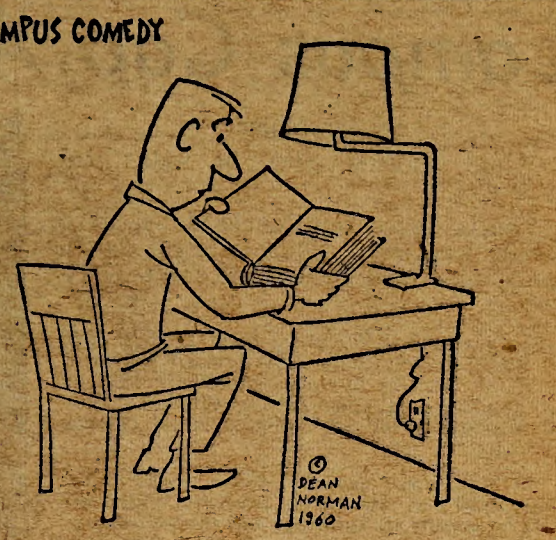
Tom dares to challenge his mother on many points. This leads to constant conflict within the family. Tom Wingfield represents many things — wasted talent, emotional disturbance and genuine love for his sister, Laura.

Don turns in another creditable performance as Tom Wingfield. At times he seems somewhat to rush the narration between scenes. Ehlers shows tremendous ability to adapt to any type of character. Only recently was he the lovable, 75-year-old Mr. Beebe in another play.

Senior Bob Boettcher as Jim O'Connor completes the cast of "The Glass Menagerie." Jim O'Connor is a young gentleman that Tom has lured home to meet Laura. Jim seems to understand Laura. In the scene between Laura and Jim, we see Laura as a real person for the first time.

Boettcher does well in his part. Miss Koob, Miss Arns, Ehlers and Boettcher make this play an unforgettable experience. If you have not seen the play, be sure to do so tonight.

LAURA (KAREN ARNS) comforts Tom (Don Ehlers) in Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie." The third and last performance will be given tonight in the chapel-auditorium at 8 p.m.



(THIS NEW, REVISED 12TH EDITION CONTAINS VITAL INFORMATION NOT FOUND IN PREVIOUS EDITIONS. YOU HAVE JUST READ IT.)

Six Seniors Get Job Placements

Six more seniors have received job placements for next year, according to Miss Mattie Harms, registrar.

Jane Becker will teach junior high music and strings and Rachel Lamker either first or second grade at Beloit, Wis.

Eunice Keller has received a kindergarten position at Faribault, Minn., while Marian Stubenvoll will teach elementary vocal music in the Fridley school system in Minneapolis, Minn.

James Lahmann will teach business at Sumner.

David Jensen will teach English and coach basketball at Ackley.

Retailing Rep. To Be Here For Interviews

Dr. F. W. Gordon, personnel manager of Block and Kuhl Division of Carson, Pirie, Scott and Company, Tuesday will interview seniors interested in positions with that company.

Interviews will be held at half-hour intervals from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Fuchs Lounge. Interested students should sign up on the second floor Old Main bulletin board, according to Mel Kramer, Business Department.

German Students Invited To Sing

Any Hans or Hilda that can carry a tune and would like to join the German Choir is urged to attend rehearsal on Monday night at 7:30, according to Emma Jordan, sophomore, director of the group.

Coeds Add 50 Extra Hours To Dating Agenda As Dormitories Collect $30 Worth Of Minutes

Wartburg women students gained 50 hours extra last Saturday night in the "penny-a-minute" night sponsored by the Women's Coordinating Board.

Wartburg Hall led the dorms with women staying out a total of 1,320 minutes after the usual 11:30 p.m. hours and until 12:30 p.m. At a penny for each extra minute, they turned in $13.20. Vollmer Hall girls stayed out 923 extra minutes, and Centennial Hall trailed with 807 minutes.

The $30.50 total that the project netted will go into the fund of the Wartburg Women's Student Association possibly to be used for an all-women party sometime in the spring, according to Connie Wiechers, president of WWSA.

3 Pianists, 1 Vocalist To Appear In Recital

Three pianists and one vocalist will give a freshman recital Sunday, March 19, at 4 p.m. in the chapel-auditorium.

Playing the piano will be Rosalie Gutknecht, Hazen, N.D.; Karen Kruger, Holland, Iowa; and Jayne Christensen, DeWitt. Doreen Oldaker, Harvey, Ill., will sing.

MARY ANN, AVIS, JUDY, LOIS COMPETE AS

4 Coeds Enter Miss Waverly Contest

By Elaine Melchert

Four freshman coeds will represent Wartburg in the competition for the 1961 Miss Waverly title.

Mary Ann Burde, Avis Holman, Judy Nimtz and Lois Remmers were named last week as four of the nine girls entered in the contest, according to senior Dick James, chairman of the pageant.

Blue-eyed, brown-haired, 5' 4½" Mary Ann Burde comes from Bensonville, Ill. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Burde.

Women's Athletic Association and Young Republicans are her campus activities. Mary Ann likes to swim, play tennis, sew and play the piano. Her talent for the contest will be wardrobe designing.

A foreign language major, Mary Ann will probably pursue the course of secondary education.

Avis Holman, 5' 4", light brown-haired, blue-eyed freshman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Holman of St. Paul, Minn.

This winter Avis was on the court of the Pi Sigma Queen at the Winter Formal. She is a member of Pi Sigma and Women's Athletic Association.

All sports interest her, especially horseback riding, skating and bowling. She plays the accordion and will use this as her talent in the contest.

Business Administration is Avis' major, and she would like to become a personnel officer.

From West Bend, Wis., is Judy Nimtz. This 5' 6" green-eyed blonde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nimtz.

Judy was one of the 10 finalists recently for the Best-Dressed Girl on campus contest. She is a member of Wartburg Players, Fortress staff and Pi Sigma, plus working at the library.

For her talent, Judy has chosen to give a dramatic presentation. While in high school she placed seventh in the nation in the National Speech Contest. Her other interests include reading, swimming and spectator sports.

Lois Remmers is one of four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Remmers. Brown-haired, brown-eyed, 5' 6" Lois comes from Auburn, Neb.

Being selected as Wartburg's Best-Dressed Girl was an honor recently bestowed on her. She is a member of Wartburg Choir and Music Educators National Conference.

As a music major many of her activities are centered around music. After graduation, Lois would like to teach high school chorus music. For her talent in the contest, she plans to sing.

Names for candidates were chosen by the dormitories, then reviewed by the Music, Art and Dramatics Departments, and final selection was made by the pageant committee and Mrs. Florence Hertlein, dean of women.

The pageant will be held in the chapel-auditorium April 22 at 8 p.m. Winner of the local contest will represent Waverly in the Miss Iowa contest this fall. She will also receive an evening gown, swimming suit, scholarship and trophy.

Senior Wins Scholarship

Senior Linda Mugridge, Waupun, Wis., has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduate study in the field of English next year.

The grant, established by the Ford Foundation, pays $1,500 plus tuition and fees at the school of the student's choice next year. About fourteen hundred awards were given in the country.

In order to qualify for the fellowship, students interested in college teaching were nominated by professors. Applications were screened, and finalists were interviewed by a committee from the foundation.

Miss Mugridge is the second Wartburg student to receive a Wilson Fellowship. John Meyer, 1958 graduate, was given a grant in mathematics.

Winner of the Wartburg Regents Award before she enrolled here, Miss Mugridge is an English major on the education curriculum. Her choice of graduate school is not yet final.

Seniors Bill Goetz and K. D. Briner received honorable mention in the competition.

Dean Heads Council

Earnest F. Oppermann, dean of students, was elected president of the church council of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Feb. 12.

Trackmen Begin Season Next Saturday With Indoor Triangular Meet At ISTC

Wartburg's first track meet of the 1961 season will be a triangular indoor meet next Saturday at Cedar Falls with ISTC and Grinnell.

Assistant Coach Dave Olson reports that the squad has been working hard to date but expressed wishes that his squad would be larger. "Thus far," he stated, "only 19 men have reported."

Of the 19 who have reported, nine are lettermen, including five seniors. Seniors going out are Gerald Buckler, shot put; Charles Wallin, shot put and discus; Ulrich Columbus, broad jump and relays; John Niemeyer, hurdles; and Edwin Skay, sprints.

Other lettermen are sophomores Fred Lichte, 880-yard run; Jerald Schara and Leonard Schmidt, high jump; and junior Dixon Zander, pole vault.

Others who reported are Gary Beese, Lothar Columbus, Gary Crane, Bill Davis, Douglas Goke, Russell Leitz, Norm Mielke, Leroy Stumme, Bob Wachholz and Dennis Wendt.

Until now, because of the weather, the squad has been emphasizing conditioning and doing a considerable amount of weight-lifting. Several groups have been making trips to ISTC to work out on an indoor track.

Coach Olson emphasizes, "Although we have several good performers, we still lack depth, and many positions are still open.

Olson added that if anyone is at all interested in track, he should report as soon as possible.

Baseballers Begin Work

Wartburg's baseball squad, under the direction of Dean Earnest Oppermann, began spring drills in Knights Gymnasium Monday afternoon.

At the present time emphasis is being placed mainly on conditioning, so that infield drills can soon start.

Thirty candidates, including nine lettermen, have reported thus far. Two more lettermen, Don Hein and Marv Ott, have so far failed to report.

Those lettermen currently working out are seniors Terry Exner, Kermit Urbain, Arlyn Saathoff, Don Lehmann, Fred Mai and Darrol Bauer; juniors Don Sowers and Jim Borcherding; and sophomore Al Exner.

The first game is scheduled for April 8.

Knights Finish BB Season With Loss To TC, 86-64

The Knights closed out the basketball season with a defeat at the hands of Iowa State Teachers College by an 86-64 score last Saturday evening.

Wartburg jumped off to an early lead, but TC went on a scoring splurge and tied the game up. Although the lead changed hands several times after that, the Panthers were not to be denied and held a commanding margin at the half.

Marv Ott was the game's high scorer with 19 points. For the Knights he was followed by Don Hein with 11 and Dar Oehlerich with 10.

The Panthers put five men in double figures. They were Jerry Holbrook with 16, Pete Spoden 15, Jim Jackson 14, Larry Timion 12 and Bob Waller 11.

They also had a lead in shooting percentage, 36 per cent-35 per cent.

The loss gave Wartburg a 15-9 record for the season while TC finished 16-5.

Two Axmen Gain First Team Berths In Conf. Pickings

Two Wartburg players made the All-Conference team selected by the coaches of the Iowa Conference. The two, junior Don Hein and senior Dave Jensen, were the only Knights selected.

The others on the squad are Bob Tidgren from Simpson, Jim Ahrens from Buena Vista and Ron Hested from Luther. Hein and Ahrens were placed on the second team last year.

The second team consisted of Al Wardlow and Chad Coffman, Parsons; Harley Olstad, Luther; Dick Yapp, Dubuque; and Don Dutton, Upper Iowa.

Coaches did not pick honorable mentions this year.

Jensen made the select team for the second time. He was all-conference as a sophomore but missed last year. Hein was on the second team last year.

Jensen in his college career finished with 1,039 points to place sixth on the all-time list of Wartburg scorers. He scored 295 this year. Hein scored 534 points this season to make his two-year total 981, just 19 short of 1,000.

During much of the season Hein was among the top free throw shooters in the nation. He made 87 per cent of his free throws throughout the season, including a record 42 over a two-year span.

Coed Volleyball To Start Mon.

Coed volleyball will start Monday, according to Intramural Committee Chairman Don Ringgenberg. Teams will be chosen this weekend by captains.

Ringgenberg also reported that intramural wrestling will begin in the near future.

Intramural bowling is in full swing with teams bowling every Saturday afternoon.

AFTER 4 YEARS ON MATS

Sternberg Finishes As Champ

By Darrell Jobman

"Hmm, my biggest thrill . . .

"It's a toss-up between winning the conference last year against Moon (of Dubuque) and beating Price (of Simpson) this year."

This was senior John Sternberg talking after he'd had time to reflect on his latest wrestling triumph. John was the only Knight to retain his crown in the conference meet as he won the 123-pound finals.

And he had a fairly rough time turning the trick again this year. He won his first match in overtime on a referee's decision over the consolation winner, Roger Sagers of Dubuque.

John then gained an easy 3-0 shutout in the semifinals as he almost pinned his man. He edged Price 5-4 in the finals as he beat one of the men who had earlier beaten him.

He isn't too happy about the past season, though, even though he won the conference title again. His final record this year was 7-5-2.

"My best year was as a sophomore," says John.

That year he compiled about a 9-1 record, but that was before there was a conference meet. As a junior he posted a 6-4-2 record.

Unlikely as it seems, Sternberg wrestled at 147 for a few meets as a freshman. Otherwise, he has wrestled at 130 except for the conference meets, when he was in the 123-pound bracket.

"John was always a dependable and steady wrestler," said Coach Norm Johansen. "Many times he wrestled out of his weight, but he always did well in the conference, probably because he wrestled nearer his right weight."

Besides lettering four years here, Sternberg picked up three monograms in wrestling at Traer High School. In high school he wrestled at 112, 120 and 127 in three years and was Traer's outstanding wrestler in 1957.

"I had a pretty good record when I was a senior. Think I lost two," said John modestly. "I went to the state and that's all."

Sternberg, who has gone by such nicknames as "Spider" and "Cat," didn't go out for any other sports.

"I was too lazy to go out for anything else," he said with a wide grin.

Sternberg
"A dependable and steady wrestler"

A business-education major, he plans to teach somewhere in Iowa next year "before the Army gets me," he says. He is a member of the Student Education Association and the Business Student Association, besides being a member of W-Club.

During his wrestling career John feels that one thing that hurt him was lack of confidence. Although Coach Johansen says that being unconfident may have hurt in some of the regular matches, he best summarized the wrestler's performances as follows:

"John always came through in the conference."

Sternberg Wins; Jomen Place 2nd

Wartburg retained only one individual championship in the Iowa Conference wrestling meet held last weekend, but the Jomen still finished a surprising second.

Senior John Sternberg was the only repeater when he won the 123-pound championship again as the Knights saw four other possible winners defeated in the finals.

WARTBURG TRAILED winning Luther in the team standings, 65-48. Right on the heels of the Jomen came Upper Iowa with 43 points. Parsons had 38 points, Simpson had 23, and Dubuque had 19, to round out team scoring.

Luther grapplers won all four of the finals for which they qualified and also won two consolation matches. Parsons won two championships while Wartburg and Upper Iowa had one each. Upper Iowa also won three consolation finals.

Senior Rog Hildebrandt tasted defeat for the first time this year in the 157-pound championships. After going unbeaten in 10 matches, Hildebrandt lost to Luther's Ron Fretheim, a winner last year at 167 pounds, by a 2-0 decision in one of the day's top matches.

TWICE HILDEBRANDT appeared to have gathered points, but the buzzer at the end of the first period spoiled one chance, and the final horn cut off Hildebrandt's attempt for a reversal.

In the 123-pound finals Sternberg got revenge, as Ced Price of Simpson had beaten him earlier in the season. Sternberg won in a close contest, 5-4, to become Wartburg's only winner.

Helping the Knights to gain the unexpected second place were four underclassmen — sophomore Bill Smith and freshmen Jim Koepke, Duane Meier and Duane Huth. All but Huth, who finished fourth, were second-place winners.

SMITH WAS shut out in the 137-pound finals by a 3-0 score by Malone of Parsons in another rugged struggle. Smith had little trouble reaching the finals, as he won his semifinal match 5-3.

Koepke faced one of the conference's toughest wrestlers in Upper Iowa's Roger Mangan in the 147-pound match. Koepke, behind 7-1 at the time, was pinned in 5:04 in the second period. Koepke had a pair of one-point decisions in reaching the finals.

Meier gave Eveland of Parsons a good battle at 177 pounds but fell 3-1 to finish second. In the semifinals Meier won easily 4-1.

HUTH AT heavyweight was Wartburg's only consolation finalist. After having a 3-2 lead on Upper Iowa's Bob Dirks, last year's heavyweight champion, Huth was pinned in the second period.

Coach Norm Johansen was rather pleased with his team's second-place conference finish. During the regular season the Jomen had only a 5-6 record.

"The year started out with a potentially good squad. Overall, though, we lacked experience," said Johansen.

But then injuries and ineligibilities hit the squad.

"We got a few breaks in the conference pairings, and the boys did better than expected," commented Johansen. "Therefore, we finished a little higher in the conference than I had anticipated."

CHAMPIONS OF THE 1961 IM basketball league, Cotta House hoopsters gather after their victory Thursday.

Members of the team are standing, manager Bob Mueller, junior Neil Stuhmer, junior Dennis Krominga, senior Hank Giesman, junior Larry Andersen and manager Don Hein.

Cotta Captures IM Basketball Crown By Defeating Grossmann I-Basement

Cotta broke the play-off game wide open in the last two minutes to beat Grossmann I and Basement in the intramural basketball championship game, 40-33, Thursday.

Off-Campus won the consolation game by forfeit over Waverly.

WITH ONLY 1:37 left in the game Cotta led the American League champs by a bare three points, 34-31. Center Dennis Krominga then iced the game with a jump shot. Larry Anderson and Leon Oltmann concluded the scoring for the winners.

Anderson hit 13 points in the low-scoring contest. Bill Fulcher was high man for Grossmann I and Basement with 12 counters.

IN MONDAY night's semifinal round, Cotta moved into the finals by outscoring Waverly, 51-45. Balanced scoring was Cotta's key to victory.

Grossmann advanced to the championship game by defeating Off-Campus in a high-scoring contest, 70-65. Warren Hilgendorf with 19 points and Fulcher with 17 turned in good performances.

Over fifty people turned out for the championship game.

Wachholz Is Self-Taught Trampoliner, Bounces For Delight Of Knight Fans

By Tom Kuckkahn

As the recent basketball season lengthened, the hopes and expectations of the Knights and Knighties grew, not only for the Iowa Conference championship, but also for the exciting, entertaining half-time performances put on by the Physical Education Club.

Undoubtedly, the main component in making these half-time shows the success they were was bouncing Bob Wachholz, who captured everyone's attention with his daring trampolining skill.

Bob, a 6' 1" 177-pound freshman, performed many diversified maneuvers and had spectators sitting tensed on the edge of their seats as he, time and again, climaxed his excellent performance with his now famous suicide drop.

"Wach" first began trampolining this past summer at "Bounceland," a trampoline center, where he was employed evenings and weekends in his hometown of Wausau, Wis.

Bob explained, "I spent 20-25 hours a week practicing when there was nothing else to do."

After observing Bob in action and knowing his relatively short experience, one would be inclined to have great admiration for his instructor. Oddly enough, Bob had no instructor.

He said, "I picked most of it up myself, but I would encourage others, who are interested, to begin with an instructor because it can be dangerous and is really the best way to learn."

IT'S A BIRD, it's a plane — it's Bob Wachholz, Wartburg's trampoline star. Bob not only flies high, he flies upside down, downside up and backside to.

He encourages the activity, stressing its worthwhileness as far as conditioning is concerned.

In high school he participated in football and baseball, lettering in each one three times. During his three years of high school football, the teams of which he was a member compiled a 19-5 overall record.

Bob has continued in athletics here at Wartburg, lettering in football this past fall at the end position. He is currently out for track, where he plans to participate in the pole vault.

Participating in college football was his biggest thrill; and he lists the desire found in college athletics as greater than that found in high school. This, he says, constitutes the big difference between the two.

P.E. is his major, but he hasn't made up his mind as to his vocation. His avocations clearly exemplify his avid interest in sports. He enjoys skiing, fishing, diving and playing tennis, softball and basketball.

He also plays the bongos and guitar well and even sings at times. His favorite recording star is Bobby Darin.

Wachholz is a Clinton Hall resident, and says that he is not particular when it comes to food but prefers pizza.

He belongs to the Tumbling Club, Physical Education Club and W-Club and also participates in intramurals.

JOINERS' JIVE

Bjonerud

People hurrying and scurrying everywhere you look — do you suppose they could be busy planning meetings? The odds say that may well be the case, as the coming week will be full of activity.

Tonight is your last chance to see "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams in the chapel-auditorium. Don't miss this fine performance by our Wartburg Players at 8 p.m.

★ ★ ★ ★

Chi Rho is meeting tomorrow afternoon in the auditorium at 1:30 p.m. The program will feature Dr. William Hulme, who will present an explanation of "Pastoral Care at Wartburg Seminary." An invitation is extended to the student body.

Sunday at 8 p.m. in the chapel-auditorium our own Wartburg College Band will present its home concert. How about a big turnout to welcome back our band? Tourers, we're proud of you!

Hey, scientists! Meeting of Science Club — 7:15 p.m. — Monday night — Clinton Hall Lounge. E-mc2, you know!

Tuesday night Hans Sachs will be meeting in 110 Old Main at 7:30 p.m.

Also on Tuesday at 7:30 the P.E. Club will meet in the North Classroom of the gym. There will be election of officers and also a talk on the P.E. Majors and Minors skill program which will begin in the fall of 1961. Looks like a busy night for the German athletes!

Calling all girls! Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. Pi Sigma will meet in Centennial Lounge, where Lt. Charlotte Mathews of the WAC will talk on the careers in the Armed Services for women college graduates and the general military life of the woman serving her country. Any interested Wartburg girl may attend.

★ ★ ★ ★

Also Wednesday an English lecture will be given in the audio-visual room of the library at 7:30 p.m. Come hear Dr. G. J. Neumann speak on Ogden Nash.

Ooooooops! Guess the fun night is changed to March 17 at 7 p.m. in the gym. Lots of activity is planned, so go and "bat the ball around."

Well, if old Joe College can manage to attend all these meetings he will be busy and probably a week behind in his studies. C'est la vie!

27 Senior Regents Candidates Selected

Twenty-seven high school seniors have been selected as candidates for Regents Scholarships, according to Florence Hertlein, dean of women. They will take part in the testing program March 25 to determine winners.

Students will report to the Admissions Office at 8:45 a.m. for general instructions. The testing period will last from 9 a.m.-12 noon.

FOLLOWING THE testing program, students are scheduled to attend a luncheon in the small dining room. Faculty interviews, campus tours and a reception for students and parents in Pres. C. H. Becker's home will take place in the afternoon.

The Regents Scholarship, which is awarded to one candidate each year, is worth $1,200. Results of the testing program will also determine how many Regents Merit Scholarships worth $600 each and Regents Honor Scholarships worth $450 will be given.

STUDENTS APPLYING for the scholarships this year are Barbara Matthias, Denver; Darrel Gerrietts, Akron; Arlyn Ristau, Nora Springs; David Andreae, Strawberry Point; Connie Schoening, Glenwood; Barbara Uchtorff, Davenport; and Judy Hoeger, Emmons.

Other students from Iowa applying are Kathie Lewellan, Cedar Falls; Judith Langhan, Clinton; Keith Tomlinson, Tama; Mary Homan, Waverly; and Joanne Kinsinger, Ottumwa.

Wisconsin candidates are Nancy Rahn, Wausau; Everett Schellpfeffer, Milwaukee; and Barbara Reinich, Oshkosh.

FROM MINNESOTA are Marlys Otto, St. Paul; Sharon Leitch, St. Paul; and Terry Dahlquist, Cosmos.

Illinois applicants are Judith Atz, Apple River; and Elizabeth Kalkwarf, Sterling. Kenneth Roberts and Everett Arnold will be here from Canton and Columbus, Ohio.

Robert Beyerlein, Phillipsburg, Kan.; Dawn Linna, Ishpeming, Mich.; Barbara Bose, Cordell, Okla.; and Carolyn Wulff, Canova, S.D. are the remaining candidates.

Ushers Select Heads

Ushers Club members elected freshman Duane Schlitter president for the coming year and junior Marlene Yohe vice president at their annual banquet Feb. 24.

Stubenvoll To Present Senior Recital; Program Headlines Foreign Numbers

Stubenvoll

Marian Stubenvoll, soprano, will present her senior recital next Thursday evening at 8 in the Fine Arts Center.

Included on the program will be Cesti's "Ah! quanto e vero," "Sento nel core" by A. Scarlatti, "Nel cor piu non mi sento" by Paisiello, Durante's "Danza, danza, fanicinlla gentile," and "Frauenliebe und Leben" by Schumann.

The presentation will close with "One Fine Day" from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly."

Julianne Mensing, sophomore, will accompany Miss Stubenvoll. The recital is open to the public.

Faculty Do Varied Tasks

In addition to their classroom duties, Wartburg faculty women manage to keep busy with other things.

Participating in the Wa-Tan-Ye Style Show next Saturday are Miss Stella Austerud, Education Department, and Miss Bertha Mead, campus nurse. Miss Austerud is selling tickets and Miss Mead is one of the program chairmen. The show will be given in Knights Gym at 8 p.m.

Dr. Katherine Love of the German Department read a paper on modern German literature to members of her division at a supper meeting Tuesday.

Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
